

From:

Marilyn Mays

[Redacted]
[Redacted]
[Redacted]

Comment on reporting findings in a yellowbook audit versus in a Uniform Guidance audit.

In a Uniform Guidance audit, it is clearer that the audited entity's response or corrective action plan is theirs because it is included on the audited entity's letterhead and not part of the finding. In a yellowbook audit, we are allowed to include a summary of the client's corrective action plan/response in the reported finding. Is that correct?

Marilyn Mays, CPA, CGMA

[Redacted]